

CM102: Dynamics of Working with Justice-Involved Persons

Course Instructor: Dr. Karen Swanson karen.swanson@wheaton.edu 630-752-7400

Course Description

This course is designed to understand the corrections environment, people and culture. Common characteristics of justice-involved people, the specialized approaches to ministering within corrections and reentry, and Biblical perspective for transformation are examined. Special attention is given to the psycho-social factors that contribute to criminality, the pains of incarceration, the population, cultural competency, behavior change, and evidence-based and faith-based programs.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of the course, students should be able to do the following:

- A. Assess the pathways and variables within the psychological make-up and sociological backgrounds of the justice-involved and identify programs and demonstrate skills leading toward rehabilitation.
- B. Describe unique characteristics, attitudes, and behaviors of the justice-involved, life behind bars and the pains of imprisonment, and propose compassionate, culturally intelligent ministry approaches.
- C. Describe the behavior change process, how to facilitate healing and behavior change.
- D. Integrate evidence-based practices and faith-based programming to facilitate rehabilitation.
- E. Demonstrate motivational interviewing.
